WILLIAM & MARY BASEBALL TEAM HIKE TO THE NORTH

Team Has Good Winning Streak. Addington Shows Up Well in the Box

After winning five consecutive victories from the "bush league" teams of this section, William and Mary left Saturday for New York to cross bats with the fast aggregations representing Columbia, New York University, St Johns and Fordham. It is hardly to be expected that the team will keep up the winning streak against the "big leaguers," but we look for one or two victories.

The pitching staff on the trip will be composed of Shiers, Shackelford and Addington. Zehmer will perform behind the bat. The gardens will be cared for by Garth, Addison and Jones. Hubbard will hold down the initial sack, Tucker on second, Peachy at short, and Games on third will complete the infield.

W. & M. VS. MCGUIRES.

The baseball season was opened here in a game with McGuire's School. William and Mary played errorless ball behind Shiers, who allowed three scattered hits, and won 6-0.

W. & M. VS. U. T. S.

The Union Theological Seminary was the next to be taken into camp to the tune of 5-2. Addington on the mound for the locals pitched a Marquard game, allowing but four hits and striking out nine ministers.

W. & M. VS. 58 CO. C. A. C.

Shackelford was sent in the box against the soldiers. The game was called in the fifth inning on account of rain, the score standing 1-0 in favor of the locals. Tucker's work at second, and Zehmer's catching were the features of the game.

W. & M. VS. U. C. M.

The game with the doctors was a 9-4 slugging match. Pfffs, the husky center field, succeeded in sending the sphere over the fence twice, scoring a man ahead of him in each case. Capt. Garth, undaunted because of his size, seized the willow in the third inning and landed out a "homer."

Garnett made his debut on the mound for William and Mary but the Medicos hit him hard and Shackelford was sent to his relief. "Shak" kept the "doctors" guessing until the seventh and then Pfffs served his second home run. Addington was sent in and finished the game, allowing no hits.

Jones' catch in the ninth and Garth's and Pfffs batting were the features of the game.

W. & M. VS. HAMPTON.

The Hampton team kept the lead in the game Saturday to the extent of nine runs until the seventh inning. Jones proved easy for the High School lads and was replaced by Shackelford who in turn yielded to Addington.

A batting rally in the eighth and ninth coupled with a score of errors gave William and Mary the game 17-10.

W. & M. ACADEMY LOSES TO JOHN MARSHALL

William and Mary Academy opened their baseball season Saturday on Cary Field in a game with John Marshall High School, losing by a score of 13-12.

The Academy team gave Prichett excellent support until the sixth inning when a series of costly errors by Addison and Newton caused the team to go to pieces, the result of which was that the visitors were able to score 12 runs in the remaining innings.

Davis' "homer," with the bases full, and the timely hitting of Newton were the features of the game.

The team will play the following games:

Hampton in Williamsburg, April 10.
Richmond College team No. 2, April 16.

Newport News High School on April 19.

Farmville in Farmville, April 22.

Richmond College team No. 2, in Richmond, April 23.

The chapter voted a free $50 scholarship from Richmond and vicinity. E. E. Worrell was appointed chairman of a committee on conditions to govern the awarding of this valuable present.

Arthur D. Wright was elected president to succeed Mr. Davis, whose term had expired, and J. C. Bristow was chosen secretary and treasurer.—News Leader.

FALLACIOUS PEACE POLICY

In his able and scholarly address on the peace movement last Monday evening, Dr. Hamilton Holt quoted Ex-president Roosevelt as having said while president: "I want a senate that will ratify arbitration treaties, and a house which, at the same time, will vote a large number of battleships." In other words the ex-president was a peace man, but believed the way to secure it was to be prepared to enforce it. And this seems to be the plan upon which all the great nations have fallen in their efforts to secure world peace. In the capacity of officials, gentlemen cry Peace, Peace, and yet lend the greatest possible assistance in equipping and maintaining armies and constructing dreadnaughts. Peace maintained by force and at any price—this is the policy to which they seem irrevocably committed.

The fallacy of such a policy is quite apparent. In their enthusiasm the advocates of this plan forget that it has always been man's nature, however much he may possess self control, impatiently to desire the application of the product of his creative genius, and especially so if it is the result of prolonged and expensive labor. Just so with nations. They can not any more than individuals go on forever providing the implements of war without sooner or later becoming desirous of using them. As all experience has shown, the heart of a nation, when encased in armor, grows cold and unsympathetic; brotherly affection, the basic principle underlying all truly peaceful conditions, becomes estranged; and with the development of a giant strength and the consequent over-mastering desire to use it as such, the stronger nations are impelled into tyrannizing over the weaker.

But this policy has an even wider range as a menace to real and lasting peace. There are nations, for example China, just now entering the march of civilization. Over them the more enlightened nations wield a powerful influence. Not wishing to be a whit behind, they are being gradually drawn into this same dangerous and hurtful policy, meeting its demands regardless of how great the cost may be. The rights of some, particularly China, have been seriously infringed upon; and after having developed a powerful military strength, it is but reasonable to believe that they sometime will find that it is sweet to seek revenge.

Thus it would seem that the present peace policy is a menace to real and lasting peace rather than a safeguard.

HON. H. C. STUART TO SPEAK HERE

Hon. Henry C. Stuart, of Russell county, Va., has accepted an invitation from the Southwest Club to address the faculty and students at some date in the near future. The subject of his address has not been learned yet, but will be announced later.

It is, of course, generally known that Mr. Stuart is an avowed candidate for gubernatorial honors at the next election. He has been for sometime prominent in the official life of the state, and has held a number of positions of trust.

Let there be a large number hear the next governor.

DR. HOLT MAKES FINE ADDRESS

Before an appreciative audience that filled the College chapel, Dr. Hamilton Holt, of the New York Independent, delivered last Monday evening a very able and forceful address on the International Peace movement. The speaker dealt largely with the history of the movement, and showed that it is being attended by a steady growth.

In introducing his subject, Dr. Holt contrasted the old, worn-out sentimentalism which made war a benefactor, with the modern rational view which makes it savage and barbarous. He then proceeded to show that we are probably now witnessing the end of the era of war and the beginning of the era of law.

After pointing out that the Hague Conference was the first attempt to bind the world into one great political union, the speaker drew a very interesting parallelism between this conference and the Continental Congress.

He concluded by saying that the peace movement is not composed of a cult of cranks, but of the foremost men of all nations; that in this great work the United States is destined to lead; and that, if the proper effort is put forth, the poet's dream of an universal peace will be eventually realized.

The William and Mary baseball team will play M. C. V. Friday.

DR. TYLER HONORED

It was recently learned that Dr. Lyon G. Tyler has been selected as editor of the Encyclopedia of Virginia Biography, which is to be published by the Lewis Historical Publishing Company, of New York.

Dr. Tyler is a very high authority on Virginia history, having been a close student of the subject for a number of years. We congratulate him on his selection.

The Academy will cross bats with Hampton High School Thursday.
